

Easier Labour Relations for Employer Organisations

Uniquely suitable for in-house labour & employee relations consultants to administer and advise on members cases.

Centrally view and administer labour & employee relations activities across groups of geographically spread and independently owned businesses on the cloud.

Maintain organisational standards ensuring consistency, compliance, fairness and ease of reporting.

The cloud platform reduces the requirement for consultant on-site visits and travel.

Consultants electronically connect and communicate with their members, promoting the most effective and cost-efficient method to administer processes that have historically been manual, disjointed, time consuming, costly and at times risky.

Improves member service levels and in-house cost efficiencies by enabling consultants to administer and advise on more cases with less resources, at higher degrees of quality and compliance.
